

IAM – Keycloak as a Service

The convenient solution for your Identity & Access Management

Your challenges

The demands placed on applications have increased significantly in recent years. Not only in terms of usability, but also in terms of security. Careful user and role management is essential to prevent unauthorized access and protect data. Identity & Access Management (IAM) platforms such as Keycloak make it possible to quickly and easily integrate a login procedure into your own software offerings. This also allows for a single sign-on when multiple applications are connected to a Keycloak instance. However, implementing and operating your own IAM solution ties up valuable resources in your own IT team.

Our solution

By using our Keycloak service for Identity & Access Management of your applications, you save your IT team the effort of setting up and operating the solution themselves. Instead, you get a complete IAM "out of the box" in our BSI C5 tested cloud, where we take care of everything (installation, monitoring, updates, backup, etc.). You benefit from a quick and easy solution to protect your applications from unauthorized access. Regardless of whether they are hosted by plusserver or in your own infrastructure.

Your benefits at a glance:
